A	6.	The computer program as set forth in claim 1, wherein the client component is further adapted for providing the information concerning the involvement of the individual in the event to a separate application.
A2	13.	The computer program as set forth in claim 8, wherein the computer program is further adapted for providing the information concerning the involvement of the individual in the event to a separate application.
À)	20.	The computer program as set forth in claim 15, wherein the client component is further adapted for providing the information concerning the involvement of the individual in the event to a separate application.